U. S., Britain and Russia May Join Hands in Crisis

Close Economic Cooperation Seen by Diplomats in Washington

By J. C. STARR

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Establishment of close economic cooperation among the United States, Great Britain and Russia was envisaged in diplomatic quarters today as a result of the German invasion of the Soviet Union.

Striking with bombshell effect comparable to the surprise Russian-German non-aggression pact of 1939, Germany's sudden war move eastward caused intense diplomatic activities in the capital.

The American government withheld any formal statement of its views but state department sources described the German action as convincing proof that Adolf Hitler was bent on domination of the entire world.

Pact With Hitler Worthless

It was described in these same quarters as another indication that a non-aggression pact with Germany meant simply an opportunity for the Nazis, if and when they desired, to attack the other party to such a pact.

The state department reaction clearly branded Germany as the aggressor and thus raised the question (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Finland in War With Russia for The Second Time

Small Nation Prefers Peace, but Is Preparing To Fight

HELSINKI, Monday, June 23 (AP)—Russian aerial bombardment of Finnish ports and ships served explosive notice on little Finland that she was again at war with her big Red neighbor soon after Germany swept the Finns into the new hostilities Sunday as an ally.

The war-worn Finns, exhausted by the 1939-40 war with Soviet Russia but prepared hastily again for the inevitable, felt the first blows from the air and waited for the land attack that has not yet developed.

The high command in its first communiqué issued in the new war said Soviet bombers rained explosives on ports and vessels without doing much damage.

This was done on the Russian contention that Germany was using Finnish bases for her attack on Russia, but the Finnish government denied this.

War for Self Defense

All was quiet on the frontier with Russia at 1 a. m., but the government nevertheless made furious preparations for a war it termed one of self-defense.

Russia Accepts Nazi Challenge, Predicts Victory

"We Will Deal a Crushing Blow" Molotov Says in Broadcast

MOSCOW, June 22, 11:30 p. m. (3:30 p. m., EST)—The Moscow radio reported late tonight that thousands of reserves were volunteering for the Red army to fight the Nazi foe. Many of these men addressed letters to Premier Stalin and Foreign Minister Molotov requesting they be permitted to fight for the Fatherland and the leader, Stalin, the radio said.

MOSCOW, June 22, (AP)—Germany struck Russia by land and air in a dawn invasion today and the Soviet government immediately accepted the challenge, hurling the might of its Red army against the Nazis with orders to "repulse this predatory assault" which Moscow's spokesman said was started "under pretexts which are lies and provocations without any foundation."

The Soviet government declared martial law in virtually all of European Russia and called up fourteen classes of men—all between the ages of twenty-three and thirty-six years—from the western border to Siberia.

Russia's two chief cities, Moscow and Leningrad, were put under the martial law in the decree, along with other lesser centers.

Molotov Confident

Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, broadcasting on behalf of Premier Joseph V. Stalin six hours after the invasion started, expressed confidence that "the heroic forces of the U. S. S. R. will deal a crushing blow" to Russia's short-lived non-aggression pact partner.

In this first word to the Soviet public that Russia was at war with Germany, Molotov announced that the Red army, fleet and air force already had been ordered on the move against Hitler's forces.

He declared the Germans attacked at several points by land and that the Nazi Luftwaffe had killed and wounded more than 200 persons in air raids on Kiev, capital. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Churchill Suggests U. S. Provide Aid to Russians

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill promised to Soviet Russia in her fight against Germany tonight and strongly suggested that the United States do likewise.

In a ringing twenty-minute radio address to the world, Churchill declared Britain "will give whatever help we can to Russia" and will appeal "to all our friends and Allies" to take the same course.

Hard Fight, Hitler Tells His Troops

BERLIN, June 22, (AP)—In an order of the day to his armies following Germany's declaration of war against Soviet Russia Adolf Hitler declared: "German soldiers! You are going into a hard fight fraught with responsibility. The destiny of Europe, the future of the German Reich and the existence of our people is in your hands alone. May Almighty God help us all in this fight."

Mussolini Yesses Hitler and Italy Enters New War

Il Duce Launches "Crusade of Liberation against Bolshevism"

ROME, June 22 (AP)—Italy declared war on the Soviet Union today, following Germany's lead in what Italians called at once a "crusade of liberation" against Bolshevism and a drive for supplies of wheat and oil for a long struggle against Britain and the United States.

How, if at all, Italy would participate actively was not learned, but some observers said it was almost certain that Premier Mussolini would want at least symbolic representation of Italian airmen on the Russian front.

The likeliest points of belligerent contact between Italy and Russia were at sea.

May Block Dardanelles

It might become Italy's task to cooperate with the Germans in an attempt to block the western entrance of the Dardanelles against passage of Russian ships.

A statement handed to the foreign press sought to give the war the character of a united, European struggle against Bolshevism and against Russia, Britain and the United States.

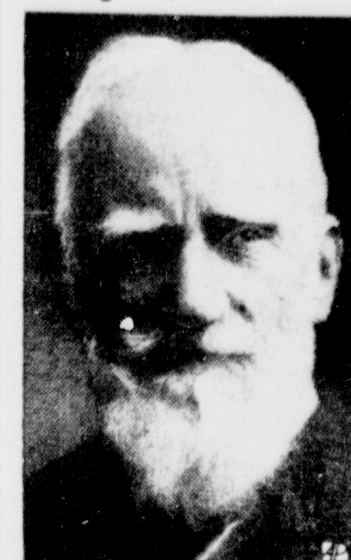

Adolf Hitler's war decision was said to be "the logical consequence of proposals and a policy of healthy European reconstruction."

Virginia Gayda, chief editorial spokesman for Fascism, wrote that the drive into Russia was to gain food for Europe to counter the Allied blockade and he charged that the United States wants to starve all Europe.

News that Italy had taken on another belligerent fell quietly on Rome in the middle of a stifly summer day. With the exception of blackouts, minor transportation annoyances and food restrictions, Rome has never seemed like a wartime capital.

George Bernard Shaw Says Hitler Hasn't "A Dog's Chance"

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, the playwright, on the German invasion of Russia.

"Only yesterday we and America were faced with the tremendous job of smashing Hitler—with Russia looking on smiling."

"Today, owing to the innumerable follies of Hitler, we've nothing to do but sit and smile while Stalin smashes Hitler. Now we'll see what will happen."

"Either Hitler's a great fool than I took him for or he's gone completely mad. Why people seemed to think Hitler could beat Russia I can't imagine."

Bitter Toward Hitler

In a sweeping and bitter indictment, Churchill accused Hitler of intending to carry his "work of butchery and desolation" into not only Russia but Asia as a prelude to an attack on Britain and "subjugation of the Western Hemisphere."

"It is not for me to speak of the action of the United States," Churchill said, "but I will say if Hitler imagines that his attack on (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Luftwaffe Brings Down Many Soviet Planes and Bombs Important Centers

Smashing Air Assaults Made upon Sevastopol, Russian Tanks and Munitions Stores and Grounded Planes; Berlin Reports Repulse of Raiding Soviet Planes with Heavy Losses

LONDON, Monday, June 23 (AP)—Roundabout reports reaching London from Berlin by way of Stockholm today said the Soviet high command suddenly withdrew troop concentrations from the frontiers to points a dozen miles inland.

STOCKHOLM, Monday, June 23 (AP)—Heavy fighting is continuing of the Soviet-Finnish frontier, a dispatch from the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Aftonbladet said today.

BERLIN, Monday, June 23 (AP)—Smashing air assaults on the Russian Black Sea base of Sevastopol and destruction of at least forty Soviet bombers trying counter-raids against German positions were claimed by Germany today as notable first thrusts of the great new war Adolf Hitler declared at dawn Sunday against Russia.

Bolstered by vengeful Finland and Rumania, the might of the German army was loosed against the Soviet Union on a 2,000-mile front ranging from the tepid waters of the Black Sea to the wastes of the Arctic north—a battle zone which the Germans said at the outset was the most extensive continuous line in the history of warfare.

First official news, delivered by DNB, official German news agency, dealt almost entirely with war in the air, however.

SAVAGE NAZI ATTACKS

In less than twenty-four hours, DNB said, the Luftwaffe smashed hard at Sevastopol, which was occupied by German troops May 1, 1918, near the close of the World War; destroyed numerous Russian airports, hangars and barracks all along the lines; destroyed unnumbered Russian planes on the ground; and smashed columns of Red army tanks, railroads and munitions stores with bombs of all calibers.

The Russians tried at least twice to raid the Germans, DNB said. The first attempt, directed against East Prussia, cost them seven out of nine attacking bombers, while the second, in the general government area of former Poland, saw thirty-three of thirty-five Soviet bombers destroyed, DNB claimed. The full Soviet losses are not yet determined, it added.

At sea, in "Russian waters," DNB said German speedboats sank a 4,000-ton Russian freighter and a fishing boat.

Two Nations Join Russians

The first military communiqué was issued from the German-Rumanian front in the south, stating that these allies had joined battle with the Russians from the mountains of Bucovina to the shores of the Black Sea.

(This indicates a 250-mile battlefront in that region alone.)

Information received by military circles in Vichy, France indicated the main German thrust probably was being made in that area, directed towards Kharkov, about 500 miles distant in the center of the Ukraine wheat fields.

Other Vichy reports said another German attack was started somewhere in the Baltic area, as (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Steady Luftwaffe raids on the Russians also were given direct-from-the-scene treatment.

Watching United States

YOMIURI SHIMBUN—At present what is watched with keen interest is the future attitude of Britain and the United States. It is a question whether Britain will make a start for peace with Germany taking the opportunity to co-operate and present a united front against the Soviets or whether in concert with Kremlin it will continue the war. The United States, however, has the initiative in continuance of the anti-German war and Britain herself cannot afford (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Restaurant Man Closes Up To Go To Lunch; Back Seat Driver Fined

Navy Officially Gives Up Efforts To Salvage O-9

Final Tribute Paid To Victims of Submarine Disaster

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 22 (AP)—On the gently rolling afterdeck of the submarine Triton, the navy secretary, officers and common seamen joined late today in solemn services for the thirty-three men who lay deep beneath the ocean waters in the sunken old underwater boat O-9 beyond reach of human effort.

The final tribute came only a few hours after two naval divers reached the side of the crumpled craft in the "deepest" working dives ever made in the world, and the navy officially abandoned attempts to salvage the ship.

Announcement of the abandonment was made by Rear Admiral Richard S. Edwards, who said it was impossible for divers to work at the depth of 440 feet—the tomb of the O-9.

Navy Drops Wreaths
Wreaths were dropped upon the sea—for the nation, for the navy and for the families of the victims as guns roared on the navy's greatest tribute and bugles softly sounded taps.

The services were held amid a cluster of a dozen service craft on sunlit and almost flat seas—twenty-five miles off this port where the submarine sank Friday morning.

Teary eyes were close to Navy Secretary Frank Knox's eyes as he stood solemnly at the Triton's port rail to say softly to the O-9 men far below:

"Good bye. We thank you, God bless you."

1,000 at Ceremonies
There were admirals with brilliant braid, sailors in dress blues and seamen and divers in denim work clothes—1,000 in all—who lined the rails of a dozen navy vessels at strict attention.

Earlier, from Washington Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, approved the order to give up efforts to salvage the O-9, declaring:

"Under present circumstances, the decision must be to accept the situation as loss of naval personnel at sea who can best be honored as men still at their station of duty. Not one of them would expect or wish another naval man to risk his life to provide another final resting place."

Admiral Edwards said both divers were "right down beside the submarine," although neither touched the hull.

The divers were Arthur R. M. Metzger, 27, of Philadelphia, and Chief Gunner's Mate Claude Conger, 33.

"Something Crumpled Up"
While he recovered from the effects of the tremendous pressure in a recompression chamber on the salvage ship Falcon, Diver Conger said he had an impression that he had seen "something that was crumpled up."

"I think I saw about twelve feet of this dark object," Conger said. "I think I saw a jagged line, but I'm not sure. I was not able to touch this dark object because I could not leave my descending line."

"I don't think I could see more than three or four feet with my light. It was the darkest I've ever been in."

In a separate statement, the navy department declared that "the salvage operations which require diving in unarmored suits are impracticable in depths over 300 feet because of the danger to the life of the divers."

"If there were any evidence or any possibility of life in the submarine the hazard to the divers in rescue operations would be justified and would be undertaken. Such possibility in the case of the O-9 does not exist."

to decide on a peace. In any case, Japan will be affected and the empire should be cautious and not take the wrong course."

ASAHI SHIMBUN—"Hitler has come to feel the necessity for making preparation for a long war instead of adhering to the tactics of carrying out landing assaults against the British Isles. It is advantageous to Germany to knock down the Soviet before the United States participates."

An emergency joint meeting of the cabinet with the army and navy commanders to chart Japan's course in the war was called for 7 p. m., EST, Sunday but was postponed until 1 a. m., EST, Monday. Matsukata previously conferred with Emperor Hirohito.

From his conference with the emperor, Matsukata returned to the foreign office and discussed the situation with his associates for ten minutes. Japan was said to have been fully advised by Berlin of the delicate nature of German-Russian relations and to be fully prepared to meet developments.

Japan was reliably reported to have tried unsuccessfully to intervene in the German-Russian crisis, and the United States was said to have been informed of the Japanese efforts.

Neutral diplomats said Russia recently approached the British through British Ambassador Sir Stafford Cripps and assured London the Soviet eventually would resist Germany and asked minimum guarantees that the English would not capitulate. The diplomats believed the outbreak of war indicated the British had given the required assurances.

Fourth of July Motor Vehicle Law Violators To Lose Right To Drive

BALTIMORE, June 22 (AP)—Drastic measures to reduce Maryland highway traffic accidents were announced today by the commissioner of motor vehicles who said drivers' licenses of motorists "arrested and found guilty" of violations during the three-day July Fourth holiday would be revoked.

Commissioner W. Lee Elgin said a strict enforcement policy was advocated by E. R. McShane, executive secretary of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, and that it would "be given my full support and be carried out in every respect."

Urges Drastic Action
In a letter to Elgin, McShane said the Traffic Safety committee felt that "more drastic action should be taken against motorists who violate motor vehicle laws."

"During this holiday (July Fourth) the roads will be crowded with pleasure seekers who leave anticipating a happy vacation, and it is too bad that, judging from the past, there are some who will not conform to the rules of courteous society. It is about this group we desire you to take action."

McShane declared that if all drivers made up their minds to operate their machines carefully, a no-accident record would result, adding:

"Those who will not observe the rules of the road should be dealt with severely."

"We therefore ask that you as commissioner of motor vehicles call in every motorist who is arrested and found guilty during this holiday period for any of the following violations, to show reason why their license should not be revoked."

Given List of Reasons
"Excessive speed or speed too fast for conditions, failing to keep to the right of the center of the road, failing to signal when turning or stopping, failing to observe stop signs or signals, passing on hills and curves, failing to dim headlights, and other violations that should be responsible for accidents, as well, of course, the mandatory procedure of revoking the license of any one operating under the influence of liquor."

The traffic chairman said his committee felt that "any motorist who will operate a car carelessly or recklessly when the roads are crowded as we anticipate they will be x x x will be even more dangerous during the times of less congestion."

"We further feel that such drivers should be taken from the highways."

Luftwaffe

Poland and down to the Black Sea shore past Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, which Rumania wants to recover from the Soviets.

This new phase of the European war, like all Hitler blitzes, started with a terrific smash.

There were hotly fought air battles over East Prussia, Germany's most easterly province. The high command reported that Germany's veteran air fighters shot down a great number of Soviet machines.

The radio brought reports of an air assault on Windau, Lithuania, where the Russians have a base and airports in Latvia. These Baltic states, with Estonia, had been incorporated into the U. S. S. R.

Nazis "Under Way"
From the ground forces there was almost no news, except the statement that everywhere they were swift under way. Presumably that meant swift forward thrusts by the Reich's powerful mechanized units.

It appeared certain from the first reports released by the high command that, as before, Marshal Goering's air force was playing a conspicuous role.

In former campaigns its mission has been to disrupt the opponent's roads, railways and air fields, deep within his country, so that when German land forces come up they meet a foe already confused by destruction of transport and communications.

The war also encompassed new expenses of sea. Most of the Black Sea and extensive regions of the Arctic were declared war zones by Germany. A reference to danger from mines indicated that from the start German sea forces were closely coordinated with land and air units.

Part of Baltic Mined
A great section of the Baltic was mined against Russian naval operations. The mining was called "defense against enemy assaults on the German coast."

A few hours after Adolf Hitler, in a spirited appeal, once more placed "the fate and future of the German Reich and our people in the hands of our soldiers," the Reich's Axis partner, Italy, announced that she, too, regards herself in a state of war with Russia. But the Germans obviously were receiving more active support from their new allies.

Germans called Russians the aggressors—morally, spiritually and militarily—pictured them as massing superior numbers of soldiers at the Reich's frontiers, waiting for a moment of German weakness when they hoped to strike.

Russia was accused of pushing to the west, making the most of the military preoccupation of Western Europe to push plans for spreading Communism through the world.

They said Russia sought domination of the Balkans, a protectorate over Bulgaria and demanded of Turkey naval bases on the Dardanelles.

German Foreign Minister Joac-

Wheeler Says We'll Fight in Russia if We Enter the War

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., June 22 (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) declared tonight that if the United States enters the European war "we will be fighting the war for World domination by Communism."

"If the president takes this country to war, that's where we're going to send troops—to Russia and the near east," he added.

Addressing an overflow crowd at an American First rally in the High School auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 2,000, the Montana Democrat and a leading opponent of President Roosevelt's foreign policies said:

"Isn't this picture of Europe tonight enough to make you realize we should stay out of European politics and intrigue and think of America first?"

Judge Bond To Get New Term O'Connor Says

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 22 (AP)—Governor O'Connor said today that Chief Judge Carroll T. Bond of the Maryland Court of Appeals had "reconsidered his decision" to resign at expiration of his term in November and would be re-appointed as chief of the state judiciary.

"I had urgently requested that he remain on the court and expressed the belief that it would be most gratifying to the entire state if he would do so," the governor's statement declared.

Bond, only judge in the eighth judicial circuit which is composed of Baltimore city, as chief judge is president of the court council.

The governor said that, in urging Bond to reconsider his retirement plans, "I was confident that I was voicing the sentiment of the public generally."

His learning, scholarship, experience and mature judgement combine to make him an ideal judge and our state has been most fortunate in receiving the benefit of his valuable services.

"I will be pleased to re-appoint him at the expiration of his present term."

U. S., Britain and of possible American aid—Lease-Lend or otherwise—to Russia.

One high diplomatic source said he expected close economic cooperation at least to develop now between Great Britain and Russia with the United States probably adopting a more liberal policy on exports of vital defense materials to the Soviet Union.

High state department officials went to their offices to study the reports received from abroad and to keep President Roosevelt informed of developments.

Viscount Halifax, the British ambassador, made an unusual Sunday call at the state department and was in conference nearly two hours with Undersecretary Sumner Welles.

Neutrality Proclamation Likely
A neutrality proclamation by President Roosevelt recognizing the existence of a state of war between Germany and Russia was expected soon, though perhaps not for a day or two.

The Siberian port of Vladivostok was expected to remain outside the prescribed combat zone for the present but a presidential neutrality proclamation on the Russian-German war would then forbid American ships to take arms or munitions to Russia by Vladivostok, the only route open to any shipments.

A major problem posed for American policy-makers was the attitude of Japan toward the Russian-German war. Officials here thus watched carefully for signs of what action the Tokyo government might take.

Three possible courses for Japan were considered:

Three Courses for Japan
1. A Japanese attack on Russia from the east under the tripartite pact which binds Japan to enter the war alongside Germany and Italy in the event of "aggression" against them by a third power not engaged in the conflict at the time Tokyo signed the pact last September. It was noted that Hitler accused Russia of taking the initiative. Japan, however, has a "neutrality" agreement with Russia even newer than the tripartite pact.

2. A Japanese military drive southward against the rich Netherlands East Indies, with whom economic negotiations have just been broken off.

3. Japanese "neutrality" toward the new conflict, at least until the military operations established the probable victory.

opposition to any attempt to restrict the property seizure bill which the war department had asked the legislators to enact.

In a letter to the chairmen of the Senate and House Military committees, the president said it would be "impossible for us now to catalogue each and every one of the government's needs in advance." The bill would empower the president to take over either "permanently or temporarily" any property needed for defense purposes, the value to be determined by the president. If an owner objected, he would be given seventy-five per cent of the offset figure and could sue for the rest.

The House is expected to take up on Tuesday legislation to provide mandatory deferment of draft registrants who have passed their twenty-eighth birthday.

Winant Flies Back On American Bomber

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—United States Ambassador John G. Winant has returned from America on a four-motored Consolidated bomber.

The bomber landed at an airport near Glasgow at noon yesterday on a flight "from the United States by way of Montreal," the embassy announced.

Winant's only statement on arrival was: "It's good to land in Scotland."

He left England May 28 by plane to report on the war to President Roosevelt.

Churchill Suggests

Soviet Russia will cause the slightest division of aid or slackening of effort in the great democracies who are resolved upon his doom, he is woefully mistaken."

The prime minister asserted: "The Nazi regime is indistinguishable from the worst features of Communism. It is devoid of all principle except appetite and racial domination. It excels in all forms of human wickedness, in the efficiency of its cruel and ferocious aggression. No one has been a more consistent opponent of Communism than I have for the last 25 years. I will say no words that I have spoken about it. But all this gives away before the spectacle which is now unfolding. The past, with its crimes, its follies and its tragedies, flashes away."

Pictures Poor of Russia
Instead, Churchill pictured the poor people of Russia, striving to guard their hard-won bread from the aggressor. He predicted "a famine without example in human history"—if Hitler should win.

Yet all this, Churchill said, would be "only a stepping-stone to the attempt to plunge the 400 or 500 millions who live in China and the 350 millions who live in India, into that bottomless pit of human degradation over which the diabolic emblem of the swastika flaunts itself."

Thus, he commented, "it is not too much to say here this summer evening that the lives and the happiness of a thousand million additional human beings are now menaced with brutal Nazi violence. This is enough to make us hold our breath."

Churchill touched briefly on Russia's alliance with Britain in the world war "against the same deadly foe," and mentioned regretfully that the Russians unhappily got no share in that victory.

"But now," he said, "I have to declare the decision of his majesty's government, and I feel sure it is a decision in which the great dominions will in due course concur. We must speak out now, at once, without a day's delay. I have to make the declaration none can doubt what our policy will be."

Must Destroy Hitler
"We have but one aim, and one single irrevocable purpose. We are resolved to destroy Hitler and every vestige of his Nazi regime; from this nothing will turn us—nothing."

"We will never parley, we will never negotiate with Hitler or any of his men. We shall fight him by land, we shall fight him by sea, we shall fight him in the air, until, with God's help, we have rid the earth of his shadow and liberated his peoples from the yoke."

Finland in War

ordered into uniform or labor battalions. Air raid shelters were readied. Windows were boarded and taped against bomb concussion.

Newsboys ran through the streets with extras. The Finns read Hitler's declaration eagerly but without excitement and the uppermost question in their minds was how soon Finnish troops would be involved.

(The Finnish minister to Washington, Jalmari Procopé, said Finland "has absolutely no aggressive or provocative intentions" and hopes only to live at peace with all nations. But he asserted that "if we are attacked we will defend ourselves." His country "will not fight for other interests," he said.)

Finnish Warships Attacked
Soviet bombers attacked coastal defense works at Alaskar fort in the Aland archipelago yesterday morning but damage was slight, a high command communique said. Scattered attacks from a great height also were made on several Finnish warships in the Turk archipelago off the southwestern coast.

Dispatches from the Karelian Isthmus, site of what once was the great Mannerheim line, said all was quiet. That is the logical route for a Red army march into Finland, and it was the scene of bitter fighting in the 1939-40 war which ended by Finland ceding about one-third of her tillable soil to Russia.

No classes between Finnish and Russian troops have yet been reported.

Moratorium on Banking
The government declared a moratorium on banking, specifically on checks and letters of credit, amid her mobilization measures.

Within the past week most of Finland's fighting manpower had been called to the colors. Reserve officers had been commissioned as regular officers. Army and navy cadets had been hastily graduated from their academies and handed commissions without the usual introductory year of active service.

Only they and others employed medical services and some special defenses were exempted from liability for labor service. The Finnish "Lotta" women who help operate medical stations and kitchens behind the fighting lines, already had been summoned.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Nazi military machine has started rolling seemingly beyond question of the food and oil in southwest Russia, which Germany must have for a long war, but other immediate aims are less certain.

At the outset of probably the most tremendous military operation in history, Moscow itself nevertheless appears to be a likely ultimate military objective.

In Berlin, confidence is reported that the campaign to crush Russia will require only a month, and in the light of the quick triumphs of the Nazi legions in Poland, France and the Balkans, it would be rash to challenge the estimate.

The full impact of the vast forces loosed by a nod from Adolf

Hitler is beyond any possibility of gauging for the time being.

Nazi Army Strongest
The Red army, in the considered judgment of experts, is in no way comparable to the Nazi steam roller. Indeed, in numbers of troops actually on the fighting front, it may be outnumbered.

Although Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop asserted that Germany was threatened by 160 Russian divisions, the entire Red army including the semi-autonomous far eastern force was credited with but 135 divisions at the start of the war. The effectiveness of the millions of Russian reservists hinges entirely on the outcome of the fighting by troops already in line, the speed with which reserves can be mobilized, and the quantity and quality of the arms with which they can be equipped.

Using the index of mechanized divisions, the Red army is credited in neutral military estimates with five or ten of dubious power to probably twenty that the Nazi army can put into action on the Ukrainian plains.

Finland No Comparison
The actual military strength Russia will be able to bring to bear remains an enigma nevertheless. The war with Finland in the dead of winter was no more a true measure of the Red army's power than Adolf Hitler's march into Russia parallels Napoleon's.

Even more than the first phases of the Flanders and Balkan campaigns, the course of the newest Nazi drive promises to be obscured at the outset. Until accurate reports begin to pierce a double censorship, eyes of diplomats and military men will be directed toward the northern and southern flanks of the 2,000-mile front.

The view that Moscow, along with Leningrad, is an ultimate objective, is shared by military observers who believe that occupation of the Soviet capital would mark the end of Soviet offensive power as definitely as the fall of Paris sealed the fate of France.

The geographical scale of the Russo-German conflict is matched only by the vast distances involved in the fighting between Japan and China.

From Warsaw to Moscow is some 800 miles for the one pincer of a two-pronged drive, assuming a push toward Leningrad and Moscow from Finland.

Driving into the Ukraine, the Nazi machine faces a fight for some 200 miles from the Rumanian to Kiev, historic capital of the rich Soviet federated state. To Kharkov, the Soviet administrative capital, is 500 miles from the border.

Not until 5:45 a. m.—after the invasion had been launched—did German Ambassador Count Friedrich Werner von Der Schulenburg advise the Kremlin of the German decision to make war as a result of the concentration of Red army units near the German eastern frontier, Molotov said.

"In reply to this," he declared, "I stated on behalf of the Soviet government that, until the very last moment, the German government had not presented any claims to the Soviet government, that Germany attacked the U. S. S. R. despite the peaceable position of the Soviet Union, and that for this reason Fascist Germany is the aggressor."

Refers To German "Lies"
"On instruction of the government of the Soviet Union I also state that at no point had our troops or our air force committed a violation of the frontier and therefore the statement made this morning by the Rumanian radio to the effect that Soviet aircraft allegedly had fired on Rumanian aerodromes is a sheer lie and provocation."

"Likewise a lie and provocation is the whole declaration made today by Hitler, who is trying belatedly to concoct accusations charging the Soviet Union with failure to observe the Soviet-German pact."

"Now that the attack on the Soviet Union has already been committed, the Soviet government has ordered our troops to repulse this predatory assault and to drive German troops from the territory of our country."

Molotov said the war was forced on Russia "not by German workers and peasants and intellectuals, whose sufferings we well understand, but by the clique of blood-thirsty Fascist rulers of Germany who have enslaved Frenchmen, Czechs, Poles, Serbians, Norway, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Greece and other nations."

Predicts Smashing Victory
"The government of the Soviet Union," he asserted, "expresses its unshakable confidence that our valiant army and navy and brave falcions of the Soviet air force will acquire themselves with honor in performing their duty to the fatherland, to the Soviet people, and will inflict a crushing blow upon the aggressor."

"This is not the first time that our people have had to deal with an attack of an arrogant foe. At the time of Napoleon's invasion of Russia our people's reply was to war for the fatherland and Napoleon suffered defeat and met his doom."

"It will be the same with Hitler, who in his arrogance has proclaimed a new crusade against our country, the Red army and our whole people will again wage victorious war for the fatherland, for our country, for honor, for liberty."

Molotov closed with an appeal to the people to "rally more closely around our glorious Bolshevik party, around our Soviet government, around our great leader and comrade, Stalin. Ours is a righteous cause. The enemy shall be defeated. Victory will be ours."

Sweden Still Neutral
STOCKHOLM, June 22 (AP)—Sweden has decided to carry on its policy of neutrality in the midst of German-Russian hostilities.

Official circles said there was no reason to expect an immediate risk of involvement and that Sweden would proceed calmly, coolly and firmly.

British-Russian Friendship Held To Be Doubtful

How Close London Will Get with Moscow Is Question

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Britain and Soviet Russia both are fighting against Germany, official British sources affirmed tonight, but just how closely they are welded as allies was a secret.

Germany invaded Russia as an easier alternative to an attempt to invade England, British sources declared, and because it might be a deterrent to American aid for Britain.

"The Germans hope to suggest to the United States that an appeasement party exists here, thus preventing the American government and industry from extending armament plants," a spokesman asserted.

"A secondary German propaganda line will certainly be to suggest to America that Britain and Russia are not ideological brothers fighting against Germany. The Nazi army will be pictured as fighting a holy war against Bolshevism."

Left wing politicians hailed the outbreak of war as a boon for the Allies and declared it meant indefinite postponement of any Nazi invasion attempt against Britain.

Authoritative sources said the British were happy to see "someone else following British policy of killing Germans" and declared the German attack on Russia "confirmed the absolute insanity of any compromise with Adolf Hitler."

Military experts, however, gave no immediate indication of how well they thought the Red forces might resist.

Examining the strategic implications of the opening of an eastern front, however, authoritative sources emphasized the growing power of British air raids on Germany in the past two weeks as evidence of British determination to "fight Germany until we are dead or victorious."

ing field, he headed numerous other papers at various times.

These included the New York Evening Mail, the Newark, N. J., Star-Eagle (his first publishing venture), the Brooklyn, N. Y., Standard-Union, The Los Angeles Express, The Detroit Journal, The Duluth Minn., Herald and News Tribune, The Memphis, Tenn., News-Scimitar, The Lancaster, Pa., New Era and The Milwaukee, Wis., Sentinel.

Active in Politics
Besides his newspaper activities, Block took an active part in political affairs and was a close personal friend of Former Mayor James J. Walker of New York City, whose cause he espoused during investigations climaxed by Walker's resignation.

In 1932 during the Hofstadter committee investigation of municipal government, Mayor Walker gave testimony acknowledging he had realized profit between 1927 and 1929 $246,692 profit without investment from a brokerage account with Block.

The publisher later testified he had established the account after his 10-year-old son Billy, waiting to go for his auto ride with the mayor, asked how Walker could live on his $25,000 salary.

"He was my friend, Jimmy Walker, and not the mayor to me," Block declared.

Against New Deal
Block, a critic of the New Deal, strongly supported Republican convention.

He many times expressed belief that the Roosevelt administration was delaying business recovery. Returning to America in 1934 after a trip abroad to study European dictatorships, he said America needed a strong conservative party. Hitler, he predicted, would remain Germany's ruler not more than two years.

Block was born in Elmira, N. Y. He entered the newspaper field as an advertising solicitor for the Elmira Sunday Telegram in 1893. He organized his first New York firm, Paul Block, Inc., in 1897.

Aided Many Charities
Block's philanthropic activities were numerous. His newspapers aided many charities and the publisher himself gave a $100,000 chapel to the Hotchkiss school at Lakesville, Conn., and in 1930 endowed the Paul Block Foundation, a public lecture course at Yale University.

Surviving are his widow, the former Dina Wallach of New York; their two sons, Paul, Jr., and William Karl; a brother, Max, active with him in the publishing field, and three sisters, Miss Mollie Block and Mrs. Gerson K. Liveright, both of New York, and Mrs. Gilbert Falk of South Orange, N. J.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. (EST) Tuesday in Temple Emanuel-El here. Burial will be private.

British Report Gains in Syria

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—The British claimed gains over wide areas today in Syria, east in a new importance by the outbreak of German-Russian war.

Operations apparently centered chiefly around Damascus, from which the French had withdrawn. The Syrian capital was heavily defended and the British believe its capitulation may prove the turning point in the two-week-old campaign.

Cameraman's Flash Turns Out To Have Power of Cupid's Bow

WASHINGTON (AP)—News photographers are noted for being Johnny-on-the-spot, but the prize for anticipating events goes to Herb White, veteran Associated Press capital photo—He took a picture of a bride couple before they knew each other.

White was assigned March 8 to the first dance for army trainees at which "draftettes" entertained the enlisted men. Draftettes are girl employees of the government who volunteer for the dances.

White cocked his camera eye on the crowd and picked Private Auborne Kelley and Marguerite Heckman as the most typical and photogenic draftee and draftee. He rounded up the pair—who didn't know each other—and got his pictures.

It turned out that he was pinching for Cupid when he introduced them. Private Kelley and Miss Heckman, an FBI stenographer, were married June 8, three months to the day after White took their picture together.

Flintstone Man Takes Local Girl As His Bride

Thelma Ryan and Martin Gordon Are Married in Church Here

Miss Thelma Elizabeth Ryan and Martin Gordon were married Saturday afternoon in the parsonage of the Kingsley Methodist church, with the Rev. H. A. Kester, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Norman A. Ryan, 639 Bedford street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Gordon, Flintstone.

Miss Mary Evelyn Ryan was her sister's maid of honor and Marshall G. Wilson was best man. The bride wore a navy blue shark-skin costume suit with white trim and white accessories and her corsage was white bridal roses. Miss Ryan was attired in a navy blue crepe dress and wore white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon are both graduates of Flintstone high school and are members of Maryland 4-H All Star Chapter.

Upon their return from a Southern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon will reside in this city.

Paul and Minneapolis. They will continue most of the week.

The first one to run an hour but divided between two networks will be the civic reception to the papal legate, MBS will be on the air at 10 p. m., followed by NBC-BLUE at 10:30.
Don Ameche, calling again at Cecil B. DeMille's radio playhouse on CBS at 8, will have the cooperation of Claudette Colbert when they play the comedy "The Shop Around the Corner."

Mutual Makes Shifts
The NBC chain is making some shifts in its daily hour of serials. In place of Helen Holden, government girl, which is moving up to 12:15 p. m., will appear a new one Front Page Farrell, at 12:30. Edith Adams' future, formerly at 12:15, is being dropped according to the schedule.
The story of "The Strange Mr. Pertwee," put down for NBC-RED at 8:30 last week but cancelled, has been rescheduled for tomorrow. . . . William L. Shirer, as the CBS lecture hall speaker at 2:45, is to tell about what a foreign correspondent reads while on duty overseas, particularly Berlin. . . . The Nordic choral convention ensemble of Duluth, Minn., performing from the Music clubs convention at Los Angeles, is to be heard on NBC-BLUE at 6:15.
On NBC-BLUE at 9:30 the regular National Radio forum will present Brig. Gen. L. B. Hershey, deputy director of the selective service in "The Present and Future of Selective Service."
Also at 10 NBC-BLUE will carry from Bloomington, Ill., the talk of Rep. Jos. W. Martin Jr. on "Preserving Liberty at Home."

"Shining Victory" Now Showing at Liberty

There is more joy in Hollywood over one new director who has proved his worth than over half a dozen new players who have suddenly demonstrated their ability to remember lines or to walk "up stage" without stumbling.

In motion pictures good directors are "the things there seems to be the least of," according to all authorities. So, when Irving Rapper, who has served a long apprenticeship at Warner Bros. studios as a dialogue director, turned in the final scene on his first picture and his bosses saw it was good, many people were happy.

The picture called "Shining Victory" is now showing at the Liberty and that is just what it is not only for Director Rapper, but also for James Stephenson and Geraldine Fitzgerald, the stars of Rapper's first directorial effort.

In the few years he has worked with dialogue at Warner Bros., Rapper has made many friends among both the important and the "little" people of the lot. He had, for instance, coached Bette Davis through reams of dialogue in past pictures. She was so interested in his success with "Shining Victory" that she went voluntarily to the set and did a bit in the picture. It was an unimportant bit, perhaps, but it was vastly important to Rapper.

A few days after the picture was finished, Rapper saw the "first rough cut" of "Shining Victory," and, he said, he felt that it was "pretty good." Between his words one could read the thought that he felt it was really very good.

"I was lucky," he went on, because I had excellent people who were anxious to make it good, too."

Marx Brothers Chase Gloom in "Big Store"

Five hit musical numbers feature the Marx Brothers' newest funnest, "The Big Store," opening Wednesday at the Maryland theater. Harpo and Chico have their usual solos on the harp and piano, while Tony Martin sings two songs and Groucho and Virginia O'Brien join forces in a novelty song and dance number.

Most spectacular number is "Tenebrous Symphony," sung by Martin, with Harpo and Chico playing their favorite instruments during one chorus. A forty-piece orchestra of youngsters and a twenty-four boy choir furnishes the accompaniment. The story finds Groucho as Wolf J. Flywheel, private detective, assisted by Harpo and Chico, trying to protect Martin from an unknown killer in a department store, setting for most of the film. After almost demolishing the store and scaring the life out of customers and salesgirls, the Marxes finally "get their man." Groucho also gets his woman, the wealthy owner of the store, whom he wooes and wins in typical Groucho fashion.

Virginia Grey is featured in the romantic lead opposite Martin, while Margaret Dumont resumes her traditional role as foil for Groucho's treat time; 2:15 p. m. Frank Parker, tenor; 3:45 a. Boy, a Girl, a Band; 5:15 Hedda Hopper; 6:30 (west 9:30) Blondie and Dagwood; 7 Those We Love, a serial; 7:30 Guy Nineties revue; 9 Guy Lombardo orchestra. NBC-BLUE—10:45 a. m. Alma Kitchell briefcase; 11:30 Farm and Home hour; 1 p. m. Melodies by Miller; 3:15 Club Matinee; 6 This Is the Show; 7 I Love a Mystery; 7:30 True and False; 8 Basin Street Swing.

MBS—1:30 Radio garden club; 3:45 Three for Tea; 6:15 Here's Morgan; 7 Amazing Mr. Smith; 8:30 Feature: Doctors on Muleback; 9:00 Henry Weber Pageant of Melody.

STAR IN STRAND FILM

Fine casting is one of the many reasons why "For Beauty's Sake" will score Wednesday a solid hit with movie-goers at the Strand theater. Leading players shown here (top to bottom), Ned Sparks, Marjorie Weaver, Ted North and Joan Davis. The film depicts the story of a woman-hater who inherits a swank beauty shop with a murder mystery tossed in!

mad love-making Douglas Dumbrille, Marion Martin, Henry Armetta and William Tannen are included in the cast.

Wanderlust Mode Pidgeon a Thespian

Walter Pidgeon became an actor because he wanted to travel around the world. That ambition hasn't been realized to date, but cinematically speaking he's traveled far and wide.

The star of "Man Hunt," the 20th Century-Fox film now at the Strand theater, has wandered as far as China in "Two Hot To Handle" and in "Man Hunt," which co-stars Joan Bennett, he's chased and does some chasing clear across Europe. It's his biggest—and best—role to date, and he's very happy he was able to take it.

But if Pidgeon ever gives up acting and his travel ambitions, he will settle down on a small ranch tucked away in a remote corner of California. There he will spend most of his time as a gentleman farmer.

In "Man Hunt," Walter Pidgeon and Joan Bennett have a supporting cast which includes George Sanders, John Carradine and Roddy McDowall.

And on election day! Well, anyone who tried to keep McCoy from his polling precinct near Thermopolis, Wyoming, would have a fight on his hands of such proportions that the interfering cuss would imagine he had tackled a wildcat. Tim's view of the matter is that nothing short of mortal illness should keep a voter from exercising his franchise, which explains his recent fast-run journey from Hollywood to Wyoming. Peter Stewart directed "Riders of Black Mountain."

Crucial Decision In "Kitty Foyle"

Forced to choose between two heart problems in the stirring climax of the picture, Ginger Rogers finds her decision and the events leading up to it as the motivating theme of "Kitty Foyle" her new starring vehicle for RKO Radio now at the Garden.

Taken from the much-discussed novel by Christopher Morley, the film is a vivid presentation of the career of a "white collar girl," one of the millions of office workers in our modern civilization, and it is said to be Miss Rogers' most important dramatic effort.

Maintaining the high standard of their popular film series, Richard Arlen and Andy Devine's newest co-starring picture, Universal's "The Devil's Pipeline," which opened yesterday at the Garden theater proved exciting screen fare.

Frostburg	10	4	.714
Keyser	9	5	.643
Westvaco	8	6	.571
Colts	7	7	.500

Keyser's Results
Frostburg 8, Keyser 5 (Frostburg 11, Keyser 10 (11 Innings))
Westvaco 8, Colts 5 (Westvaco 11, Colts 10)

Manager Knuch Price's Frostburg American Legion team became first half champions of the Bi-State Baseball League yesterday when they closed the race by registering a double victory over the Keyser Moose at Community Park, Frostburg.

With "speed" Lambert checking in his fifth victory, the Legion defeated the Moose 8-2 in the opener to clinch the flag and then in the afternoon stopped the West Virginians 11-10 in eleven innings.

Helder started on the slab for Frostburg in the nightcap but retired in favor of "Jaggers" Drew with the score tied 5-5. In the seventh, "Jaggers" Drew doubled advanced on an outfield fly and scored the winning run on "Stony" Jackson's single.

Colts Top Westvaco

Lambert had four hits in as many trips in the first game while Jackson, Sam DeLaca and Bill Drew of Frostburg and Art Seale of Keyser were other batting stars.

In yesterday's other finale, the Cumberland Colts won over the Westvaco A. A. 9-2 at Memorial Park, Westvaco, behind the hurling of William "Boss" Miller.

The Dobkins sewed up the game in the fourth when three runners crossed home plate. "Pete" Cook doubled, "Nene" George singled and a two-bagger, Bob Henrick tripped, Alie and James walked, Bobby Cook forced Henrick at home, Miller fanned and Clark singled.

The Colts counted once in the first when Henrick singled, stole second and counted on James's single and again in the fifth on singles by "Pete" Cook and George and a double by James.

Pulpmen Waste Hits

Westvaco, although it collected ten hits, could muster only single counters in the second and eighth. In the second, Robertson tripled and came in on Marber's single and in the eighth Davidson and Sullivan singled and Davidson counted on an infield out.

Pete Cook, George, Henrick and James each had two hits to lead the Colts, with Henrick getting a triple and Cook, George and James each a double. Sullivan with three blows and Leo Ryan and Robertson with two apiece, sparked the Pulpmen. The Cumberland-Westvaco boxscore:

Brooklyn Takes Close Contests From Cincinnati

Flatbushers Win 2-1 in 16 Innings, then Rack Up 3-2 Triumph

CINCINNATI, June 22 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers sorrowed an all-time record attendance of 35,792 fans at Crosley field today twice beating the Cincinnati Reds by a one-run margin 2-1 and 3-2. Kirby Higbe held the Redlegs to three flat innings in the opener, while Paul Derringer and Whitlow Wyatt duelled through ten scoreless innings in the opener, then Wyatt clubbed his first home run of the year. Ill. Wyatt gave way to Hugh Casey against whom the Redlegs tied the score in the eleventh on Frank McCormick's double and singles by Ival Gooden and Mike McCormick.

Casey gave two singles after that, while Derringer lost the game in the sixteenth when Reiser singled, took second and third as Frank McCormick threw wild on Lew Riggs' sacrifice and was squeezed out on Dixie Walker's bunt. The scores:

First Game: Brooklyn 000 000 010 000 1-2 1-2
Cincinnati 000 000 010 000 0-1 1-2

Brooklyn—Wyatt, Casey and Frank McCormick. Cincinnati—Derringer and Lombardi.

Second Game: Brooklyn 000 000 010 000 1-2 1-2
Cincinnati 000 000 010 000 0-1 1-2

Whirlaway Heads West; Biscuit's Mark Threatened

Winner of Turfdom's Triple Crown Cops Dwyer at Aqueduct

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—This is a little note of warning to the three-year-olds in the west—head for the storm cellar, boys, Whirlaway on the way.
Having mopped up all the worthwhile cash in the east, topping it off with $8,075 in the fifty-third running of the Dwyer at Aqueduct yesterday, Warren Wright's shabby whizz-bang will be shipped to Chicago this week for the next steps in his target practice at Seabiscuit's all-time money-winning record of $437,730.

He'll take a crack at the Classic at Arlington Park and the American derby at Washington, each worth about $40,000. And, from the way he has waltzed through the best of the lot in the Kentucky derby, the Breakers, the Belmont stakes and the Dwyer, it looks like the three-year-old who might beat him either never was born or is now being equipped with a special twelve-cylinder airplane motor to turn the trick.

Has Earned $244,186

The two Chicago affairs, if he wins them—and who wants to put up a bob or two that he doesn't?—would boost the Kentucky cannonball's earnings to some $235,000. Yesterday's pay envelope, although not as large as usual, raised his two-year racing bankroll to $244,186. After the Windy City wars, Whirlaway will be sent back east for the Saratoga social and galloping season in August, with the approximate $17,000 Travers as his No. 1 appointment and the Gold Cup as a possible added attraction. He'll also take a whirl at Belmont's fall prizes before wrapping up his three-year-old crown.

If there had been any lingering doubt about his seat at the head of the class—and don't forget there still are some folk willing to be even against death and taxes—Blenheim's baby just about cleared it up yesterday. This was no record-smashing job like he did in the derby, although he did lower the stake mark to 2:03 2-5 for the mile-and-a-quarter.

Drifts Out on Stretch

In the Dwyer, he just went out and beat 'em. That's all there was to it. He just started last, went round the outer, and finished first. Lou Tufano's sore-footed Market Wise made one run at him, and all Eddie Arcaro did was give him some more rein and whisper "let's go, baby" in his ear. Whirlaway right away from there. At the finish, he was a length to the good over the Tufano's $1,000 bargain buy. He did drift out some in the stretch, but Arcaro explained this was because he had changed his hold on the colt when he saw Market Wise coming and the sudden shift caused Whirlaway to go wide. However, the claim of foul which followed was filed away with such things as last winter's underweight and your best left-handed monkey wrench.

Hogan, Demaret Tournay Winners

Brother Texans Split $2,000 Top Prize Money in Inverness Event

TOLEDO, O., June 22 (AP)—Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, brother Texans, lost one match and gained a one-up decision in another today to win the seventh annual $7,000 Inverness invitational four-ball match and split the $2,000 top prize money.

Winning by the greatest margin in the tournament's history, the victors finished with a plus 11 count, three ahead of the score with which P. G. A. Champion Byron Nelson and long-hitting Jimmy Thompson finished second for $1,300 in prize money.

Here's how the eight teams of top-notch professionals finished, with the prize money split by each pair:
Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan, plus 11, $2,000.
Byron Nelson and Jimmy Thompson, plus 5, $1,200.
Ray Manbrun and Harold "Jug" McSpaden, plus 5, $1,200.
Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, plus 2, $500.
Horton Smith and Lawson Little, minus 6, $500.
Dick Metz and Clayton Heafner, minus 7, $400.

Ralph Guldahl and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, minus 8, $300.
In today's final rounds, the late holes being played in a heavy rain, the sixteen stars scored ninety-two birdies and three eagles, giving them 222 birdies, six eagles and a hole-in-one for the seven-match round.

Crackers for Yankees

Rene Cortes, Willard Marshall and Connie Ryan of the Atlanta Crackers are scheduled to be Yankee farm hands next summer, probably at Newark.

County Campaign In Service Drive Will Begin Today

Six Hundred Volunteer Workers To Start House-to-House Canvass

The Allegany County United Service Organizations campaign for $18,000 gets underway today when 600 volunteer workers start a house-to-house canvass. Thomas F. Conlon, general chairman for the county drive, yesterday said that he was confident the county would more than reach its goal by next Monday when the drive closes.

A meeting for solicitors in the business section will be held today at 12 noon in the headquarters for the campaign at 13 North Centre street. According to the plans, four teams of men will canvass the business area.

Residential sections of the city will be covered by 300 women making a house to house canvass. Mrs. Harry E. Ploek is chairman of the women's section.

Pre-Gifts Received
J. George Smith, chairman for the pre-campaign gifts, reported more than $400 already received for the fund which is to provide recreational and educational facilities for the men in uniform.

Assisting Smith in soliciting for the pre-campaign gifts are Clarence Lippel, Charles A. Piper, Robert E. King, Robert W. Young and Miles G. Thompson.

Smith, in announcing the first report from his committee, commented on the generosity of the local persons and the splendid attitude in wanting to aid in the national campaign.

Persons giving $50 or more to the fund include Irving Rosenbaum, Morris Rosenbaum, and Edmund S. Burke.

Contributions of $25 were received from Wilbur W. Wilson, Harry Bernstein, Mrs. Louis Bernstein, Joseph R. Pinar, Mrs. M. C. Giletti, Dr. A. H. Hawkins, Franklin C. Anderson, J. George Smith, G. W. Bibby, Mrs. Ricka Rosenbaum, Harry Foster and Charles S. Calhoun.

Gifts of from $15 to $24 were received from Frederick C. Strickland, Charles A. Piper, Miles G. Thompson and Charles A. Richards.

Donations of from $10 to $15 were received from Oscar Grogan, Orison O. Wilson, Charles Z. Heskett, Aaron Lazarus, Dr. C. L. Owen, Somerville Nicholson, Howard W. Vandegrift, Henry W. Price, Paul Heuer, Frank E. Smith, R. Arden Lowndes, Milton Bernstein, William A. Hunter, William L. Sherman, John A. Parks, Henry C. Shriver and Dr. Frank M. Wilson.

Local Teams Contribute
Contributions of $5 were made by James C. Shriver, James E. Perrin, Dr. L. J. Lantich, Charles G. Holzner, William M. Roberts, Cyril B. Geare, Charles Walzgrind, Harold W. Smith, Robert W. Young, Harold Fletcher, Dr. E. L. Jones, George R. Hughes, William H. Lewis, John I. Vandegrift, Robert E. King, James Alfred Aylrett, Robert Jackson, Clarence Lippel, Nat S. Guggenheimer, Dr. F. M. Jacobson, Irving Millenson, Mrs. Elsie Lichtenstein and Harry A. Pitzer.

Firms and organizations which have already responded include the Lions Club of Cumberland, 10; the Cumberland Rotary Club, $25; the Queen City Dairy, Inc., $25; Cresap Chapter D. A. R., $10; Women's Society for Christian Service, Central street Methodist church, $25; Crystal Laundry, $10; Kline Furniture Store, $5 and the Community Loan and Finance, $5.

Three Soldiers Hurt In Grantsville Crash

Three soldiers were painfully but not seriously hurt and three others escaped injury late Saturday afternoon when their car collided with another in Grantsville.

The soldiers, enroute from Fort Belvoir, Va. to their homes in Grantsville, Pa., for a week-end furlough, were driving west on U. S. Route 40 when their car struck the automobile of George B. Brink, 34, of Grantsville, traveling east and making a left turn into a service station. Friend, who was not hurt, was cited by State Trooper Carl G. Storm to appear for a hearing to day before Magistrate Charles S. Zeller, Grantsville.

Most badly injured of the soldiers was Michael Krestes, 21, who had his right thumb severed and suffered severe head and facial lacerations. He remained overnight at Miners hospital in Frostburg, but was discharged yesterday afternoon to return to Fort Belvoir.

Howard Luttner and George W. Shaffer, both also 22, were treated for cuts and bruises at the hospital and discharged. Others in the car were William S. Mason, John Zirkaby and Michael Eliek Shaffer, who was said to have been driving the car.

Wife Left 16 Years Ago, Man Says, Asks Divorce

A Frostburg man who said his wife deserted him more than sixteen years ago filed suit for divorce Saturday in circuit court.

He is John Franklin Cook, who asks his marital freedom from Mrs. Helen Isabel Cook, of Westminster. The couple was wed January 11, 1919, in Chambersburg, Pa., where they lived until 1925, when Mrs. Cook allegedly deserted her husband and went to Baltimore, according to the bill of complaint docketed by Charles G. Watson, attorney.

The couple has two grown children, both married.

DROWNED—Pvt. William Boyd Edenhart, 28, formerly of Cumberland, drowned last week in the Panama Canal, according to word received here from the war department. Edenhart, a former Caneese worker, was detailed to the guard and service company at Post of Corozal, Panama Canal Zone. (See Story on this page.)

Keyser Man Is Arrested on Three Charges

Gilbert Lease Held in Connection with Two Hit-Run Cases

A man who gave his name as Gilbert L. Lease of RFD 3, Keyser, W. Va., was arrested late yesterday morning by Maryland state police on three charges which grew out of two hit-run accidents Saturday night about one mile above the Pinto road on the McMillen highway.

According to Trooper B. C. Mason, Lease's car first sideswiped the machine of Howard P. Duckworth, and failed to stop. Later he hit the car operated by Ernest Braumage, of Westport, Mason added.

Trooper Mason reported Lease fled into a nearby field after the second crash and couldn't be found until yesterday morning.

Lease was being held last night in the city jail on charges of failing to stop after an accident, driving without a license and failing to keep to the right-center of the road. He will be given a hearing today in trial magistrate court.

Robert Shrou, Jr. Is Arrested on Liquor Charge

Robert E. Shrou, Jr., 117 Baltimore street, was arrested early Saturday morning by Lieut. James E. Van on a warrant charging him with selling liquor without a license. Shrou was released into the custody of Brooke Whitting, local attorney, pending a hearing in police court.

Christian Mission Plans To Be Discussed Here

Plans for a week-long series of "Christian Mission" services will be discussed by Protestant ministers of the Cumberland area at a meeting at 2 p. m. today at Central YMCA according to Brigadier B. L. Phillips, president of the Cumberland Ministerial association.

The program contemplated here is part of a nation-wide movement, with plans to hold special services in 100 cities of 25,000-100,000 populations. The question of Cumberland's participation arose at last week's meeting of the Ministerial association, but action was deferred until today's special session, which all Protestant ministers are urged to attend whether they are members of the group or not.

Service Station Employee Accused of Embezzlement

Returned here from Baltimore Saturday, Howard Weller Jr., 26, was lodged in the county jail to await a preliminary hearing in trial magistrate court today on an embezzlement charge.

Weller, accused of taking $86 from the Spur service station where he was employed, was arrested in Baltimore at the request of State Attorney Morgan C. Harris and brought back here by County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle and Deputy Sheriff David M. Steele.

Three Persons Injured in Auto Accidents in Cumberland Area

Eight-year-Old Girl Suffers Possible Skull Fracture

Three persons, including a child, were injured yesterday in automobile accidents in the Cumberland area.

Bonnie, George eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casper George, 118 Decatur street, suffered a possible fractured skull about 9 p. m. when she fell from a running board of a moving car. She was admitted to Allegany hospital for observation.

Hospital attendants reported the girl's mother was unable to name the driver or give details of the

Lengthy Soldier Glad To Sleep Again in One Bed at a Time

Pvt. Robert F. Minke, of Cumberland, is glad to be sleeping again in one bed at a time. It was reported here yesterday.

Pvt. Minke, stationed at Camp Holabird, was taken to the Fort George G. Meade hospital the other day for an emergency appendectomy. Then came the real problem—finding a bed big enough for Minke, who is six feet five inches tall and weighs 233 pounds.

The problem was solved by placing three beds side by side and depositing the soldier on them crosswise. Now Private Minke feels well enough to lie on one bed in the orthodox manner, except that occasionally, when he stretches, an unwary attendant may collide with a pair of feet extending into the aisle.

The news of the solution of the soldier's problem came from his brother, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke, who was down to see him Saturday. Joe can sympathize with Bob's plight, because Joe is a runner-up (and we do mean up) to Bob in size, measuring 6 feet 4 1/2 inches.

1,041 Persons Swim in Pool At Park Here

Large Crowd Goes Swimming as Summer Officially Arrives

The official advent of summer Saturday was accompanied by temperatures in the nineties over the weekend, which set the turnstiles to clicking merrily at the Constitution Park swimming pool.

Manager William R. E. King reported that 1,041 persons used the pool yesterday. This figure is believed to be a record Sunday total, King said, although he was unable to check it against official records.

The first day of summer Saturday brought 462 persons to the pool, which figure King described as a new high.

The total for the week, June 15 through yesterday, was 2,897, according to the manager. On the official opening day last Sunday 283 persons used the pool despite inclement weather.

Despite yesterday's crowd, King declared that not even the most minor mishap marred the day, so far as he knew.

Yesterday's top temperature was 90 degrees at 4 p. m., according to the Western Maryland railway dispatcher. The heat, oppressive by reason of the humidity, was broken somewhat in the LaVale area by a hard thundershower about 6 p. m. but only a few scattered drops fell in downtown Cumberland.

Shortly after summer made its official debut at 2:34 p. m. Saturday, the mercury soared to 96 degrees.

St. Patrick's New Priest Heralded As One of the Tallest in Country

Father Bogan, Six Feet Eight, Comes from Large Baltimore Parish

Heralded as one of the tallest priests in the United States, the Rev. Father Charles W. Bogan, from one of the largest parishes in this country, will come here this week to take over his new duties as assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, North Centre street.

Father Bogan will succeed the Rev. Father John A. Mountain, administrator of St. Patrick's parish, who leaves this week to become assistant pastor of St. Jerome's church, Baltimore, after being connected with St. Patrick's eleven years.

Born in Washington, D. C., of Irish descent, Father Bogan received his early education in St. Paul's parochial school and St. John's college, a cadet school conducted by the Christian Brothers. In September, 1920, he entered St. Charles college, Catonsville, and was graduated from there in June, 1926.

Ordained in 1932

Since his ordination from St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, to the holy priesthood June 16, 1932, Father Bogan has been stationed at St. Elizabeth's, Baltimore—one of the largest parishes in the United States, where he has been spiritual director of the Holy Name Society, Saint Vincent de Paul Society, Ushers and Junior Holy Name Society.

Greatly interested in athletics, Father Bogan in 1940 led Saint Elizabeth's Holy Name unlimited baseball team to the Maryland State Amateur championship and went with the team to play in the national championship tournament in Birmingham, Ala.

During seminary vacations, the Baltimore priest was director of activities at the Knights of Columbus camp, Branchville, N. J., and was a Red Cross life saving examiner.

While at St. Charles college, Father Bogan played in every branch of sport and was a member of each team, namely, baseball, basketball, tennis, soccer and swimming.

Six Feet Eight Inches Tall

The Rev. Father W. Joyce Riggs, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church, Oldtown road, is well acquainted with St. Patrick's new assistant pastor, who is six feet, eight inches tall.

"In spite of his unusual height, he's well-built with broad-shoulders and has a winning personality that is sure to gain him many friends in Cumberland," Father Russell said.

Father Bogan's transfer from Baltimore to Cumberland becomes effective as of Friday, June 27, at noon.

BOY IS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT ON VIRGINIA AVENUE

Charles Edward Shifflett, nine-year-old son of Mrs. Esther W. Shifflett, 608 Virginia avenue, suffered a right shoulder injury Saturday night when he was struck by a car while crossing Virginia avenue at Fourth street. He was admitted to Memorial hospital for observation.

The driver, Marion Warren Neselrodt, 28, of 37 Oak street, told police the boy darted from behind a parked machine. No charges were placed against him.

Hospital attendants last night reported the boy's condition as "good."

Child Dies after He Swallows 90 Pills at His Home near Oldtown

The family lives on a rural road three miles from Oldtown, and the father had to place the child in a wagon and set out for the village. On the way he met Theodore Hann, 115 West Oldtown road, who had been fishing in that section, and who offered to use his car to rush the boy to the hospital.

The child was near death when he arrived at the hospital, and a stomach pump and oxygen tubes were used in a futile attempt to save his life. He died ten minutes after being admitted.

Surviving, besides his parents, are a brother, Wilbur Miller, at home, and four sisters, Esther Miller, of Romney, W. Va.; Alice, Helen and Gladys Miller, at home.

The body is at Wolford's funeral home.

Beetle Traps Out

Four Persons Arrested By Game Warden

Four persons were arrested in Allegany and Garrett counties last week for game and fish law violations, according to Regional Game Warden Joseph Minke.

James L. Muir, of Frostburg, charged with taking three undersized trout from Bear creek, will be given a hearing in Grantsville tonight, Minke said, while Arthur Scott, of Zihlman, accused of possessing undersized bass from Will creek, is slated to be tried at Mt. Savage.

John Stott, of Frostburg, was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate Joseph Feidman, of Frostburg, on a charge of permitting his dogs to pursue game during the closed season, Minke reported, and James Vankie, of Selbyport, posted $114.45 bond when arrested on a charge of fishing with a borrowed license.

All four arrests were made by District Deputy Game Warden Frank H. Ruge and Deputy Warden Theodore Theoritz.

To Elect Officers

New officers will be elected by members of the Exchange club at their weekly dinner-meeting at Central clock this evening at Central YMCA.

Stockton Girl Wins Elks Essay Contest

Miss Ema Witzel To Represent Maryland in National Competition

Miss Ema Witzel of Stockton high school, Stockton, Md., was proclaimed state winner yesterday of the patriotic essay contest sponsored by the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association. Announcement of the award was made yesterday afternoon in Baltimore by Charles M. Stump, of Cumberland, state chairman of the contest, with the program broadcast locally.

Qualifies For National
Miss Witzel, in addition to qualifying for the national contest, received a $15 cash prize and the C. Ray Hare trophy. Other prize-winners were Miss Margaret Schivone, of Towson Catholic high school, Towson, Md., second; and Miss Dorothea Mask, of St. Mary's high school, Hagerstown.

Miss Irene Wolford, of Port Hill high school, represented Allegany county in the contest, the topic of which was "What Uncle Sam Means to Me."

Judges were Dr. Charles B. Hale, head of the department of English at the University of Maryland; the Rev. Ignatius Smith, O. P., dean of the school of philosophy, Catholic university, Washington; and Dr. James S. Martin, assistant to the president of St. John's college, Annapolis.

The text of Miss Witzel's winning essay follows:

"Being a high school pupil, fast approaching the end of my educational career and confronted with the need of selecting an occupation in order that I may take my proper place in our democratic society, I am constantly reminded of 'What Uncle Sam Means to Me'."

"To me, Uncle Sam is my benefactor, my guide and my protector. With his strong, firm hands Uncle Sam, the skipper, the representative of generations of foresighted leaders and illustrious statesmen, is the helmsman of our 'Ship of State'."

I can see him standing on the bridge, his face stern, determined and positive, knowing he has charted his course and is sailing the direction we passengers want to go; confident he will land us in that port where continued freedom of thought, expression and life prevails. Never has he veered from his course. Never has he deserted us or given up in despair! Had he, where would we be now? I dare to think we would not be as thrilled and eager to embark upon careers. I rather think we would be like the youth of Poland and Holland whose cherished ideals of freedom have been trodden under the iron heel of a dictator.

"Our belief in the Creator, our natural resources, our great inventions, expansive industries, agricultural lands yielding abundantly, the billions and unity for the national defense and happiness of our citizens, our capital—the very heart of our nation contacting all by its laws, for the people, by the people, and for the people, freedom of family and community life and our incomparable educational system which has made possible our glorious country—all these compose my inheritance, bequeathed me by Uncle Sam."

Offers Liberal Opportunity
"Of the many things Uncle Sam means to me, education is foremost. Literature, science, art, biography, proficient teachers, scientific research—all things requisite for a well-rounded life—have been placed at our disposal. Soon, our youth and I will become voters in the greatest democracy in the world. For this great responsibility, we have been patiently taught and trained through our young, vigorous lives. No dictatorship offers its youth such a liberal opportunity for individual thought and expression."

"Uncle Sam has given me a composite unity of power, wealth, progress, liberty, justice and education. At this stage in my life, education has more directly influenced me than the other factors. To show my appreciation for my inheritance, I have been trained to be offering my services with a willing heart and a never-dying love for Uncle Sam."

The Regulations, the Director pointed out, provide:

"The registrant shall be permitted to determine what place he desires to give as his residence when he is not located in one place all of the time. The registrar shall make no effort to dictate or interfere with this choice."

There is no change in the provision that permits a local board of (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)
